Some of the peculiar advantages of this Company are:

1. It has a capital of $100,000, well secured; has two departments, the mutual and joint stocks; the mutual department being secured by the whole capital of the company and its accumulations.

2. The rates of premium in the joint stock department are reduced one-fifth, and a cash dividend in advance of fifty-three per cent. since the last one.

3. In the mutual department, but one half of the annual premium is required in cash, when the insurance is for life and the annual premium amounts to $40 dividend of profits annually; scrip issued, drawing interest and transferable.

4. The wife of the husband may be insured for the benefit of the wife, the insurance payable to her, free from all claims of creditors or representatives. We are not aware of this provision in any other company in Ohio; it is in none of the English companies, and but few of the eastern companies.

5. The premiums may be paid semi annually, or quarterly, if preferred.

6. The premiums received will be invested in the West, and the money paid annually for life insurance retained among us.

Also, merchants, tradesmen and manufacturers in active business, whose property depends upon the vicissitudes of trade.

3. Those whose real estate is encumbered.

Democratic Ticket, 1852.

FOR PRESIDENT,
STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS, of Illinois.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
R. M. T. HUNTER, of Virginia.

TUESDAY, : : DECEMBER 9, 1851.

Wanted.—A good and competent carrier, to take charge of the route on the point and the Jeffersonville route. None but a prompt and attentive person need apply.

☞ The editor of the Louisville Journal tries to be merry over the cold and heartless portion of the President's message wherein his Excellency treats of the affairs of Cuba. He and Spain may giggle; but the friends of the butchered fifty and the imprisoned one hundred and sixty, can't enjoy the sport. Perhaps it's all right to shoot down fifty men, according to Spanish justice after a Spanish trial; all right, too, on the part of England to assume authority in Central America, and order American vessels about at pleasure; all right in France and England to order their navies to scour our coast and see if we observe neutrality. If our government submit to it, it is all right. People no more jealous of their own rights—people so tame and pusilanimous—ought not to be respected. They should be contemned and insulted on all proper occasions.

The editor of the Journal tries to wriggle out of the charge that England and France assert the right to crush any effort of a republican party in Cuba. He wants the proof that there is any republican party there. Let Spain dare try the question; let her withdraw her army and navy—withdraw her spies and her despotic police: let her do this, and see if there is no republican party in Cuba. But the truth is, England and France did not send their vessels of war to aid Spain on condition that there was no republican party on the island. There were no such conditions in the case. Their action was an open assertion of their right to interfere and preserve the island under the dominion of her Catholic majesty.

Every man, woman, and child understands this. It is too plain to be misunderstood. Fillmore understands it perfectly, and so does the editor of the Journal, notwithstanding the latter now pretends ignorance; and wants proof that England and France assert their right to crush republicanism in Cuba. They can always deny, and so can the editor of the Journal, that there is any republican party in Cuba. We don't suppose there ever will be one known, if Spain, England, and France are to unite to crush it; and this is proclaimed beforehand, and acquiesced in by our government.

Fillmore may write frigid messages on this subject, and our neighbor may giggle over it, but the people of this country will find him something else to grin at before long. Foreign nations know who is at the head of our government, and know that they can play what antics they please just now; but after the election in 1852, we shall hear no more of Spanish insolence and British and French interference on our borders. When a proper representative of the unterrified democracy of this country stands at the helm, these despots will stand off and make mouths, but play no more antics.

☞ We are gratified to see that the democracy of Mississippi will hold a convention on the Eighth of January, at Jackson, the capitol of the State, to appoint delegates to the Baltimore convention. The Mississippian urges the movement earnestly.

There are no whigs left in Mississippi. That party has quit business there.

☞ The editor of the New York Tribune (whig) says the prevailing defect in the President's message is a non-assertion, almost a non recognition of principles.

☞ The following historical sketch is a part of the proceedings of the democratic meeting at Carrollton. The resolutions we published some days ago:

[For the Louisville Democrat.]

To the Democracy of Kentucky.

The democrats of Carroll county take pride and pleasure in congratulating their brethren throughout the State upon the glorious result of the last election, having placed in the chair of State an enlightened, sound, and practical democrat, whose energy and ardor, sustained by a wise forecast, will lead our good and glorious State to that eminence she is so justly entitled to occupy amongst her sister States.

The federal party—rather countenanced by General Washington—soon after he retired from the government, obtained the ascendency in each house of Congress. Their principles and policy inclined to a strong, energetic, and expensive government, antagonistic to the views and opinions of the republican party. Alexander Hamilton, a man of great abilities, and beloved by General Washington, was the leader of the high-toned federal party. In 1798, the second year of John Adams' administration, this party passed the alien law—giving to the President the power to send out of the country any foreigner he pleased, and to remove from the seaboard any suspected foreigners back into the country one hundred miles, there to remain during the will of the President. They passed the sedition law, fixing a fine and imprisonment on any one that should speak disrespectfully of the President. Many good citizens were fined and imprisoned under this law for an unguarded expression of their honest opinions. A poor tailor in New Jersey, sitting upon his shop-board as some pageantry was passing his door in honor of the then President, John Adams, was heard to say, "D—n the President." For this expression he was sued, fined one thousand dollars and costs.

In time of peace this party raised a provisional army of twelve thousand men, and as soon as the law was passed, the whole number of officers were promptly commissioned, conferring fines on the sons and dependents of the federalists.

These high-handed measures greatly alarmed and excited the public mind. Kentucky was foremost in sounding the tocsin. Settled principally by soldiers and patriots of the revolution, her citizens were aroused, determined not to submit tamely to these usurpations upon their rights and liberties. Meetings were called in most of the counties for consultation and advisement. On the Fayette county court day for August, 1798, a very large assemblage of the people took place in the University Square, at Lexington. Col. Robert Johnson, father of Col. R. M. Johnson, was chosen chairman. The meeting was addressed by Col. George Nicholas, in strains of eloquence and reason that carried conviction to the minds of the multitude. Suitable and appropriate resolutions were passed, condemning in strong terms the offensive laws, pronouncing them to be unconstitutional, therefore null and void.

Col. Nicholas was then in the prime of life—not fifty years old. He had taken an early and active part in favor of the revolution, and held an office of high rank in the army (Lieutenant Colonel) in the Virginia line. He was an eminent and highly distinguished lawyer, and a most able statesman, as is shown by his speeches in the Virginia convention, which assembled at Richmond in 1788. To this body was submitted, for acceptance or rejection, the federal constitution. It was thought by many that this assemblage of men possessed more wisdom and political knowledge than any assembly of men of equal numbers that ever came together.—Here Col. Nicholas met in debate the towering intellect of George Mason, and the renowned oratory of Patrick Henry, with others of great celebrity—Nicholas and Madison for the constitution, Mason and Henry for rejecting it.

Colonel Nicholas removed to Kentucky in 1789; took great interest in our early political movements, giving tone and character to our measures. His opinions were looked upon as oracular. He only saw the dangers to be apprehended from the encroachments of the federal government upon our rights. He wrote and published many able articles about this time, not only arousing the people in Kentucky, but in other States. They rose in their might in 1800, turning out of power the federal party, with John Adams at their head, and placing Thomas Jefferson at the head of the government. Col. N. did not live to see the result he was so instrumental in bringing about; he died in August, 1799.

Owing to the labors of Col. Nicholas and his coadjutors at this critical crisis, the political field was thoroughly plowed and harrowed, and good seed sowed on rich soil. This was done without any effort or labor of Henry Clay, yet he reaped the harvest!

At the great meeting at Lexington in August, 1798, Henry Clay made his first public political speech. He spoke after Col. Nicholas, sustaining his views and principles. From that time Mr. C. was borne along by public favor. Five-sixths of the voters of Kentucky, at this time, were democratic. Mr. Clay was the favorite, the darling of the party; they delighted to honor him. He was sent to the Senate of the United States when he was just old enough to take his seat. In this body he made his great speech against re-chartering the Bank of the United States. He advocated the declaration of war against England; and on the 8th of January, 1813, in the House of Representatives, he made his masterly speech for free trade and sailors' rights. These great and noble acts riveted the affections of the people, which seemed as if they could never be rent asunder. Mr. Clay continued to possess the full confidence of his political friends up to the winter of 1824-'5, when, in an evil hour, he coalesced with the federalists, making John Quincy Adams President of the United States.

Kentucky from the first was considered to be the purest, soundest democratic State in the Union—one that could be relied on with the greatest certainty; her people, her Legislature, and all of her members of Congress were democratic.

Mr. Clay's defection astounded everybody To sustain his new position, he exerted his great abilities to the utmost, and did, in fact, win over and seduce a moiety of the democratic party; these, united with the old federal party, made up the modern whig party in Kentucky.

The other moiety of the democratic party were not dismayed. Seeing their danger, they resolved to meet their opponents in a fair field.

The first great State convention of the democrats was held at Frankfort on the 8th of January, 1828; and at each olympiad since they have assembled at the same place, on the same day, marshaling their forces for the combat.—We have been often defeated, but never beaten—always renewing the fight; and now, in the year 1851, after twenty-six years of hard fighting, the democracy have triumphed—occupying the ground we did when Henry Clay deserted us We trust and hope that the young men just coming into active life will maintain this ground. These considerations prompt our gratulations to our brethren of this glorious State.

We congratulate our democratic brethren throughout the Union upon the glorious results of the late elections, giving to the democratic party entire possession of the political field and the control of most of the State governments, with unprecedented majorities in both houses of Congress. We believe that public affairs will be conducted, under democratic control, with energy and economy, ruled by the constitution—redounding to the honor and glory of this great nation—giving abundant proof of the great advantage to the country of our system and principles over those of our opponents.

We recommend and advocate an enlightened and liberal foreign policy.

We of the Mississippi valley are mostly agriculturists; our delightful climate and fertile soil enables us to produce a large surplus. This surplus of tobacco, cotton, breadstuffs, and provisions is worthless to us left on our hands, but is of some value when given in exchange for the productions of other countries suitable to our wants. These exchanges are now made to a limited extent, and may be greatly increased by a liberal and wise foreign policy, carried out by the general government. Our commercial relations with France, one of the greatest and most enlightened nations of Europe are narrow and cramped. France could easily consume double the quantity of Cotton, and treble that of tobacco, she now receives from us, and many other articles that we can supply. The consumption of her superior cloth, and silk, her wines and her brandies, together with many articles of luxury and taste, will correspondingly increase with us, in proportion to her increased consumption of our products.

Say to France, receive our cotton, tobacco, staves, &c., equal to your wants, at a moderate duty; and that we will receive your products and manufactures at a corresponding rate.

It is so manifestly the interest of each nation, that such a state of trade should exist, that it seems strange it has not been in operation long ago.

What has been said of France may be applied to most of the continent of Europe, particularly to the German States.

We are of opinion that the existing state of things demand a new and comprehensive system of domestic and foreign policy; that to carry it into effect requires the hand of a steady, strong and vigorous western democrat, who will consult the interests, rights and honor of his country, surround himself with able and faithful counsellors, be sure he is right, and then go ahead.

Democratic Meetings.

OHIO COUNTY.—At a meeting of the democrats of Ohio county, held at the court house of said county, in Hartford, on Monday, the 1st day of December, 1851, Col. R. T. Bell was called to the chair, and T. J. Henderson chosen secretary.

The President having called the meeting to order, stated the object of the meeting to be to appoint delegates to represent Ohio county in the democratic State convention, to be held at Frankfort on the 8th of January next.

Whereupon, on motion, the president then appointed a committee to choose delegates, and the committee, consisting of John Rowan, Robert Mosely, and Elijah Chinn, retired and made out the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That all democrats of the county, who can attend, be appointed delegates to this democratic convention.

Resolved, That our delegates go to the Frankfort convention uninstructed.

Resolved, That, confiding as we do in the sound doctrines held forth to the world by the democracy of Kentucky, we will cheerfully abide by the action of the Frankfort convention, and lend our hearty cooperation to the same.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Louisville Democrat, Frankfort Yeoman, and all other democratic papers in the State.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

R. T. BELL, President.

T. J. HENDERSON, Secretary.

ADAIR COUNTY.—At a meeting of the democratic party of Adair county, held at the court house in Columbia on Monday, December 1st, 1851, it being county court day—

On motion, Dory Nell, Esq., was called to the chair, and Timolean Cravens was appointed secretary.

Whereupon, the object of the meeting was explained by Hon. G. A. Caldwell.

On motion of John S. Browning, a committee of three, consisting of Hon. G. A. Caldwell, John S. Browning, and Cager Orell, were appointed to report resolutions expressive of the object and sense of the meeting, who thereupon reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That we approve of the convention proposed to be held by the democratic party of Kentucky, at Frankfort, on the 8th of January next, and that we appoint the following persons as delegates to represent this county in said convention, viz: Solomon Baker, Wm. Resolved, That such is our confidence in the principles and practices of the democratic party, that we feel entirely secure in pledging our cordial support to the nominees of the national democratic convention for the offices of President and Vice President of the United States

Resolved, That, regarding the acts of the last Congress, commonly called "the compromise," as a final settlement of the difficulties that so seriously threatened the Constitution which has ever been the basis of the democrat creed, and that this can only be done by the permanent ascendency of the democratic party, we feel that it is a patriotic duty of the first magnitude to recire in our ranks harmony, zeal, concert, and a strict party organization.

Resolved, That we congratulate the State of Kentucky upon the election of our present distinguished democratic Governor, and that we hail the event as the dawning of a new and better era in our Commonwealth.

Resolved, That the course of Governor Powell thus far, and his able, business like, and practical message, have fulfilled the highest expectations of his friends, and have fully sustained the reputation of our State

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be sent to the Louisville Democrat and Kentucky Yeoman for publication. DORY NELL, Chairman.

Dr. Guysott's Improved Extract OF Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla!

The original and only genuine preparation for the permanent cure of Consumption and Diseases of the Lungs when they are supposed to be affected by the too free use of Mercury, Iron, Quinine, &c.

IT is also a sure remedy for Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Tetter, Scaldhead Dropsy, Scurvy, and White Swelling, King's Evil, Neuralgic Affections, Female Weaknesses and Obstructions, Nervous and general Debility of the System, Loss of Appetite, Langour, Dizziness, and Liver Affections, which lead to Intermittent and Remittent Fevers, Chill Fevers, Dumb Ague, Jaundice, &c.

The Shaker-prepared 'Yellow Dock' and the 'Red Honduras Sarsaparilla' are the invaluable remedial agents from which Dr. Guysott's Improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla is formed; and the laboratory of Dr. Guysott has given us the virtues of these roots in their perfection. His preparation contains all of the restorative properties of the roots, combined and concentrated in their utmost strength and efficacy.

Experiments were made in the manufacture of this medicine until it was found that it could not be further improved.

Accordingly, we find it resorted to almost universally in cases of Hepatic, Scorbutic, and Cutaneous complaints for General Prostration of all the vital powers, and all those tormenting diseases of the skin so trying to the patience and so injurious to health.

Scrofula, Syphilis, Mercurial Complaints, Cancers, Gangrene, Rheumatism, and a vast variety of other disagreeable and dangerous diseases are speedily and perfectly cured by the use of this medicine.

To Married Ladies and Mothers.

The Compound Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has been prepared with particular reference to Female Complaints.

No female, who has the slightest reason to suppose she is approaching that critical period, the turn of life, should neglect, for one moment, to take this compound, as it has proved to be a certain preventive for all the numerous and horrible diseases to which females are subject at this time of life.

By using this Extract, this period may be delayed for several years, for this medicine certainly has no equal for all of the delicate diseases to which females are subject.

The Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for females of delicate health, resulting from irregularity of menstrual discharges and other diseases peculiar to their sex. The proprietor has in his possession a great number of certificates of cures performed of the above description, which, from their delicate nature, we omit to publish. However, we can assure the afflicted that a bottle or two of Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla will at once regulate those difficulties and renew the natural energies.

Females, read the following

Dr. Guysott—Dear Sir: I have been for years very much out of health; I had lost my appetite, and was, by spells, very sick at my stomach. I was very much troubled with night sweats, and for days was troubled with drowsiness and general debility. My husband purchased one bottle of your valuable Syrup, and before I had taken that one bottle my appearance was very much improved, and I am now enjoying good health. I found your medicine as good as it was recommended.

MRS. JANE S. TAYLOR

Females, read the following.

NEWARK, N. J., January 25.

Mr. Bennett:—We take pleasure in stating that your Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla gives great satisfaction in every case.

A very respectable gentleman informed us that his daughter was troubled with difficult menstruation and other diseases peculiar to her sex, she had not had her regular menstrual discharge for a long time; but by the use of Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla was radically cured. She used Townsend's and others without receiving the slightest benefit. He had one daughter to die from the same cause.

HINMANSVILLE, Oswego co., May, 1848.

N. F. Bennett—Dear Sir: I purchased a short time ago a bottle of your Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla for my wife, which she has used for her complaint, Erysipelas and Weakness, Falling of the Womb, etc., and it has already helped her very much. Of the Erysipelas it has effected nearly a cure. I have just purchased a second bottle, and judging from the effect of the former, feel confident that I will effect a perfect cure.

Yours, very respectfully, N. COBURN.

Cure of an aggravated case of Erysipelas.

The cures performed by Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla are lasting. The patient's general health continues to improve after disease is removed. Cures are not chronicled until time has fully tested that there can be no relapse or return of the disease:

NORWAY, Herkimer co., February, 1850.

S. F. Bennett & Co.—Gents: It is with great pleasure that I write you about the very happy effect of your Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla upon my son, who has long been suffering under that dreadful, painful disease, Erysipelas, with which he was attacked in 1848, and was for several months attended by some of our best physicians, who tried their skill perseveringly for five months, without any beneficial effects whatever. He became reduced to a perfect skeleton. He had ulcers from his hip down to his knee, with which continually discharging offensive matter. Medical and surgical skill was baffled. Physicians said that his case was hopeless—there could be nothing done to arrest those terrible gangreuing ulcers. My neighbors and myself thought his dissolution near at hand. One of my neighbors, who had cured a child of scrofula with your invaluable medicine, wished me to make a trial of it, and more form the restless desire to do something while life lasted than from any hope of getting relief, I procured three bottles of your "Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla," and commenced using it, and to my astonishment he commenced to improve before he had used the third bottle, and before he had used half a dozen bottles he could walk out. He used in all twelve bottles during the year '49, and by October last he was perfectly restored; every vestige of the disease except the scars was removed, and he remains in perfect health up to the present time. His recovery, under the blessings of God, is entirely owing to the use of your Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, and I assure you that I feel myself under great obligations to you, and it is with great joy that I inform you of what your Sarsaparilla has done for my son.

Respectfully, JAMES RUSSEL.

ST RADER'S HOTEL.—A Compliment.—On their return to Cincinnati, from their recent agreeable excursion to this city, the "Rough and Ready Cadet" passed the following complimentary resolution, among others, expressive of the gratification they experienced during their visit. We are sure our friend STRADER gratefully acknowledges the handsome testimonial of his urbanity and attention as host:

Resolved, That to Dr. D. W. Strader, our worthy host of "Strader's Hotel," (of whom too much praise cannot be spoken), a thousand obligations are placed upon us, as by his friendly invitation, his kind reception, and his unremitting care best owed upon us during our visit. This is but one of the friendly acts heretofore done; all evidencing his true worth as a gentleman, and sterling capabilities as a landlord. We take pleasure in recommending him and his house to the citizens of Louisville, and the whole traveling community, with the assurance that they have only to give him a fair trial to prove conclusively his merits.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES PERFORMED BY DR. A. J. VANDERSLICE.

PHILADELPHIA, May 17, 1849.

THIS is to certify that I have long been afflicted with the Dropsy, from which I have suffered much bodily as well as mental pain. I have tried many remedies without any benefit, and received the several eminent physicians, who promised a speedy cure; but, unfortunately, their promises were never realized. I was induced to try Dr. A. J. VANDERSLICE, who soon, by his course of treatment, restored me to health. I am induced to make this public, in hopes that others suffering may consult him with like success.

THE TELEGRAPH NO. 2.—It was rumored about the city on Saturday, that the "Great" steamer Pittsburgh would be down on Sunday morning to give the Telegraph No. 2 another chase for the honors, which she still wears in triumph on her jackstaff. The Pittsburgh did not come down, however, greatly to the disappointment of many anxious spectators, who had collected on the wharf to see the race. Being among the crowd, we concluded to make a flying visit to Madison on the Telegraph, which place we reached in three hours and fifty minutes after leaving Louisville. The Telegraph is a great boat. As for speed, it is acknowledged by all that she has no superior. Her officers are kind and attentive, and spare no pains or expense to please or add to the comfort of those who travel with them. The fare on the Telegraph is equal if not superior to our first class hotels. She always makes the trip with punctuality, and we heartily commend her to the traveling community.

THE MAIL AGENTS.—We are indebted to Mr. John Anderson, the gentlemanly Mail Agent on the Telegraph No. 2, for his attentions to this office. We know of no one who is better qualified for the post he fills than Mr. Anderson. He is always punctual in his duties, and never forgets the "Locals."

To Mr. Johnson, the ever attentive Mail Agent on the Ben Franklin, we also return our thanks for repeated favors. They are both very polite and agreeable gentlemen, and we think that the Mail Company have been very fortunate in securing their services.

THE RIVER AND WEATHER.—The river up to dark last evening had fallen about two inches, leaving about 6 feet 4 inches water in the canal, and 3 feet 10½ inches on the falls.

The Weather yesterday was cloudy with a slight fall of rain.

☞ The fine steamer Crescent arrived from New Orleans yesterday. To her officers we are indebted for the latest New Orleans papers.

Douglas and Hunter.

Let every one be fully persuaded in his own mind who shall be the Democratic nominee for president it is an open question and every Democrat has a right to his own preference. Ours, however, is the winning ticket. Come on boys; we have the biggest crowd, and will carry the day at Baltimore. Douglas is not only the first choice of a large plurality, but he is the second choice of an overwhelming majority. All the Democrats know him to be as sound as a dollar; young, talented and energetic. He has never sinned against Democracy, and has no apologies to make for his past political course—he needs none. We had just as well come up and nominate him on the first ballot. It's not worth while to go round about to do what will be done, and well done at last. It's vain to talk of the claims of any one to the Presidency. No one has any claim to the office but the man who suits the times and represents the sentiments and feelings of the mass of the people. Douglass is just the man. Hurra for Douglas and Hunter.

Chapman's Varieties.

An excellent dramatic entertainment is offered the lovers of the drama to-night. Harry Chapman is indefatigable in his efforts to make his elegant little Temple worthy of public patronage; and to our mind he has succeeded admirably. His corps is more than ordinarily select, and we have witnessed several dramatic representations, which were produced with as much effect as they could have been rendered in our largest class theatres.

The operatic burlesque, "Buy-it-Dear," is nightly received with shouts of laughter. The music and acting is excellent, and the dancing of M'lle Carline is in itself a very attractive feature.

M'lle Teresa Parodi's Concert.

Our readers will remember that, according to previous announcement, the concert of this distinguished songstress will take place at Mozart Hall to night. The programme of the entertainment may be found under the "amusement head" in another column. M'lle P. is assisted by M. Strakosch, the Lion pianist; also by M'lle Patti, and Mr. Arthurson. We doubt not they will here command the same success as elsewhere. Indeed the Nashville press are in raptures. They state that Jenny Lind's concert was not more fashionably, nor more numerously attended. Hundreds of our readers, doubtless heard M'lle Parodi when first here, and we advise them all, together with every lover of delightful music, to be present to-night.

Louisville Sunday School Union.

The Third Anniversary of the Louisville Sunday School Union will be held this evening at 7 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church.

The Annual Report will be read and addresses delivered by Rev. Geo. W. Smiley of Frankfort, and Rev. Messrs Breckenridge and Booker of this city. All interested in the welfare of the neglected children of our city and State are invited to attend.

The Pork Trade.

The number of hogs slain at Louisville up to this time is about 80,000 head.

Prices range at or about $4,50 net weight.—Green hams are selling at 6½ cents, with a downward tendency.

There are about 15,000 head of hogs in the pens ready to slaughter.

They are coming in freely, but it is generally believed that the number this year will fall short of last year's crop.

☞ We have received a letter from a friend stating that the "Russian exiles," three master performers upon the violin, violincello, and the piano, will soon reach our city, when they intend giving us a taste of their quality.

They are of the musical accademy of Nashville, and have merited the highest encomiums at home and elsewhere. We trust our citizens will give them a kindly greeting. Due notice of their arrival will be given.

☞ Mr. Harrington, a famous ventriloquist, from the East, has reached Cincinnati, where he will give a series of entertainments. We may then look for him in our city.

☞ The presses, types, &c., used in the publication of the Memphis Eagle, are offered for sale.

☞ The ladies are fast becoming Odd Fellows—up at Indianapolis.

☞ The engines of the new steamers Eclipse cost the enormous sum of $27,000.

HOGS.—We understand that a pork establishment in New Albany has contracted for 17,000 head of hogs, to be brought in on the railroad.

☞ The "Louisville Guards" have a meeting on Friday evening next, for an election of officers nominated at a previous meeting. Their notice will be found in another column.

☞ The Brook Street Methodist Church will soon be completed and ready for service.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

[Correspondence of the Louisville Democrat.]

WASHINGTON, Dec 2, 1851.

Messrs Editors: The message of the President is quite a lenthy document well written; yet entirely whig in regard to the tariff and internal improvements; while, in regard to its foreign policy, it is somewhat obscure and mysterious. The events in Central America receive but a passing notice, and are dispatched in a single paragraph. The revolution in those States is pleaded as a reason why no protest was made against British encroachments, as if the Clayton Bulwer treaty were a nullity until Central America shall have risen into a respectable power. She requires our assistance now, to extricate herself from the claws of the British lion; and in this her hour of greatest need, our government has turned a cold shoulder on her. Mr. Mercolita, the minister from Nicaragua, is now here protesting against the recognition of the King of the Mosquito coast; but our government has refused to interfere; and it is well known that G. Britain will not quit the coast until her protege King Gallinipper I. is acknowledged by Nicaragua, or the United Central American States.

The declaration in the President's message that he considers the compromise measures passed during the first session of the thirty-first Congress as a final settlement of the dangerous and exciting topic of slavery; because, taken in connection, they are the best compromise that could be obtained between conflicting sectional interests, is so completely identical with the very words of the whig resolution passed in the whig caucus of yesterday morning, that it is but fair to suppose that the same mind was the parent of both. The fact is, I know, that Mr. Webster was at work all Sunday evening to drum up recruits, and that the President on the same evening, sent for many members. Mr. Webster was also at the capitol while the caucus was in session, and hence it may fairly be presumed that he is the father of the resolution adopted in caucus, as well as the author of the paragraph in the message referring to the fugitive slave law.

The democrats are now ready to cross examine the whigs. They will, themselves, introduce compromise resolutions in the House, and call the ayes and nays on them. We shall then see how many whigs and how many democrats will dare avow their compromise sentiments before the country. Stand up, gentlemen, and answer to your names! Had the compromise resolution, offered by Mr. Polk in the democratic caucus, on Saturday night, been offered in a full caucus, it would, no doubt, have passed; but the friends of Wm. O. Butler, such men as Rantoul, Preston King, Cleveland, &c., on the one side, and those of Mr. Buchanan (secessionists) Venable, Johnson of Arkansas, &c., on the other, defeated the measure.

This morning the Louisville Democrat came to us with the banner of Stephen A. Douglas for President, and Hunter of Va., for Vice President, flying from its mast head. It spoke the sentiments of nine-tenths of the members and Senators in Congress, and the opinion of the unbiased democratic press from one end of the Union to the other. The old fogies may try all their skill, and combine all the discordant elements of parties to bolster up their sinking cause; they will effect nothing against the young democracy fresh from the people, and its heart not yet callous from political intrigues. Go to New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio,—go to New England or Virginia, Douglas and Hunter are either the first choice of the people, or the compromise of all political contestants. Douglas, of all the candidates named, is the only one that not only carries us weight in the race, but actually the prestige of success with him. Hunter, of Virginia, is a man full of talent, who fought well and long for southern rights; but never with a view to disturb our glorious Union. He made one of the ablest chairmen of the committee of finance, and showed himself, in that capacity, as a truly national man. He, too, is a young man, and the idol of the young democracy of the country. There can be no better combination than that contained in your ticket, which appeals at once to the pride, patriotism, and nationality of the vigorous portion of the people throughout the Union. Let the old fogies sneer at young men. They cannot falsify history. Pitt was prime minister of England before he was twenty five years of age; and Napoleon was not yet twenty-eight at the close of his campaign in Italy. CAPITOL.

☞ The Eagle and the Enquirer, the two whig papers of Memphis, have merged into one. The firms have united, and will continue the publication of a daily under the title of the Memphis Eagle and Enquirer.

P. S. Since the above was in type each paper has come to us declaring that the union is not yet. Only a little love quarrel we hope.

Louisville looking up.

We copy the following from the Frankfort Commonwealth of yesterday:

CORRESPONDENTS—THE SENATORIAL ELECTION. We have received two communications in relation to the pending election of U. S. Senator, unaccompanied by the names of the writers.—The one recommends WILLIAM K. WALL, Esq., of Harrison, as a worthy candidate upon whom the Whigs might harmonize; the other suggests and recommends BIRCH MUSSELMAN, Esq., Representative from Louisville, for the same position. We make it a rule to publish no communication unless the name of the writer is entrusted to us; but out of a high regard for the talents and character of the gentlemen named we mention the substance of the communications sent in this instance.

☞ J. G. James and Geo. Robertson are out in reply to a communication of Tom Marshall's, published in the Reporter. Neither the communication nor reply are worth publishing, and besides they are calculated to disturb the harmony of the whig party. We shall not be a party to any such doings.

☞ Some scoundrel entered the Washington engine house on Saturday night last, and with a knife or some sharp instrument defaced the pannels of the beautiful engine Franklin. D. W. McCarty the chief director of the company offers a reward of twenty dollars for the detection of the person who committed the act.

☞ M'lle Parodi, Strakosch and troupe reached Louisville last evening. Remember their concert to-night at Mozart Hall.

☞ We call the attention of those wishing to purchase negroes for their own use to the advertisement of Gen. M. M. Rawlings, in another column this morning.

☞ The case of D. W. McCarty, charged with killing young Bremaker, which has lingered along for several years, was dismissed from the docket yesterday.

☞ It will be seen by our telegraphic dispatches that the river at Pittsburg is rising.

FOREIGN NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP

PACIFIC.

4 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.

The steamship Pacific from Liverpool, with dates of the 25th, arrived at 9 o'clock this evening with 47 passengers and advices four days later than those brought by the America.

Among her passengers is Hon. W. C. Rives, American Minister to France, and lady, and Mr. Winthrop, bearer of despatches from London.

The steamer city of Glasgow, from Philadelphia, arrived at Liverpool on the 23d ult., after a passage of 17 days.

The Conrad steamship Europa made the passage out from Boston in 10 days and 9 hours.

The new telegraph invented by William F. Healy was about to be adopted by the Liverpool, Manchester, Lancaster, and Yorkshire railroad company, on the whole of their new line of telegraph, in which the voltaic battery is superseded by a beautiful application of magnets and electricity.

The news from the continent is uninteresting.

Mr. Wagstaff, having completed his arrangements for the trans-Atlantic communication between New York and Galway, returned on the Pacific.

Lord John Russell has contributed 500 pounds toward Lieut. Pim's expedition to the polar seas in search of Sir John Franklin. Lord Palmerston was reported to have borne the whole expense of the party as far as St. Petersburg, to which point Lieut. Pim was accompanied by a Government messenger, and it was reported that dispatches had been received promising the imperial assistance to the expedition. Lieut. Pim's search is intended to be prosecuted north and east of Behring's straits.

A serious collision had occurred on the North Western railroad injuring a number of persons.

The cotton factory of Messrs. Dugald, McThail & Co. at Greenhead, was destroyed by fire on Monday. It was an immense structure, employing 300 persons. Loss 25,000 pounds.

The Sunderland Bank has suspended payment.

France.—M. De Thouquer, Minister of the Interior, has received an invitation to become a candidate for representative from Paris, but declines, on the ground that it may divide the order party. Lefevre Duralfe is named as Minister of Commerce, and Carabbanca as Minister of Finance.

The illness of Marshal Soulre has somewhat altered, under skilful medical treatment, and there is now some hopes of his recovery.

A bill has been deliberated by the Council of State, and would soon be sent to the Assembly, upon the subject of the responsibility of the President and his Ministers, wherein it is provided that he may be impeached by any two members of the Assembly, and his functions to cease thereupon. This will have the effect of re opening the question contained in the proposition of questors.

The Assembly, on the 23d, determined by a vote of 441 to 20 to proceed to the third reading of the municipal bill.

An article in the Constitutional, charging the heads of the order party with a conspiracy against the President has caused a great sensation.

The Minister of the Interior has denied the existence of any such. It is said the President will again present the electoral bill to the assembly.

Hungary.—A new ministry under the Presidency of Szechey has been formed which will pursue an entirely new course of policy. The new King of Hanover has issued a proclamation pledging himself to the most sacred observance of the constitution of the country. The proclamation of the new King had given great satisfaction. He is called George V.

Italy.—The Neapolitan Government intends increasing the export duties on sulphur and oil.

Turkey.—The accounts from Constantinople announce that the ministerial crisis is at an end and that Ali Pacha had been induced to assume the duties of a foreign minister.

Hungary in a political sense is in an unsatisfactory condition and the government organs admit it. The system of expulsions are still carried on at Vienna.

Prussia.—A renewal of the commercial treaty between Prussia and Belgium had failed. The Prince of Prussia was to leave Berlin to take command of the army of the Rhine.

Spain.—The news is unimportant. The negotiations of the United States relative to the Cuba invasionists give rise to great discussion in the public journals. Two vessels of war had arrived with another portion of the Lopez expedition.

South American advices from Montevideo to Oct. 12th had been received in Liverpool. They report the war in the Buda Oriental as terminated and that Gen. Oribe had retreated to his country house. The Argentine forces had joined Gen. Urquiza. A provisional government was talked of. The war having terminated without bloodshed, great rejoicing had taken place.

Commercial Intelligence.

There was a more active demand for cotton at Liverpool. Brown, Shipley, & Co's. circular says there is no material change to notice in the market. Sales effected being at extreme rates last quoted. Mr. Henry's circular however states that good ordinary and middling qualities are nearly ½ higher. Sales of 23d, 24th, and 29th were about 2,500 bales, fully one quarter being on speculation and for export. On the 26th, the market opened with a steady feeling, and sales promised to reach 8,000 bales at very full prices.

Provisions.—There is nothing new in Beef or Pork. Hams are neglected. Shoulders are 2s. lower with no enquiry. Lard 61 s is. lower.—Tallow was improved.

Breadstuffs.—Makin's Circular says flour has been in less active demand and late rates are merely sustained. Corn is rather more sought after, and prices quoted at 28c a 29c 6d for yellow, and 28c a 29c for white. The demand for wheat is moderate at late rates.

Sugar meets with moderate inquiry at former rates. Coffee—The sales have been small and prices unchanged. Tea—Nothing new to report. Molasses—Transactions are limited at former quotations. Rice—American descriptions are wanted and prices are very stiff. Bark is very dull, prices nominal. Oils are unchanged.

The money market continues abundantly supplied. Discounts are easy. Consols are steady and closed on the 25th at 99x99 for money and on account.

There was an active business doing at Manchester in both goods and yarns, and prices of the latter had an upward tendency.

LATER BY TELEGRAPH.

Paris, Nov. 26 A. M.—On Monday the Minister of Interior sent a reply to M. Criton, on an article in the Constitutionelle. He says he will reply categorically, had we obtained proof of the existence of such a conspiracy. You may be well assured that whoever participated in it, however high his rank, we would not have hesitated to perform our duty.

The Assembly then adjourned.

London, Nov. 26.—A letter from Liverpool names the suspension of Pryde & Jones and Harnden & Co. The liabilities of the former are not mentioned—of the latter 60 or 80,000 pounds.

TWO ASPECTS OF IRELAND.

Dennis looked to the mistress as if he would have implored her intercession; but as she gave no sign of it, he was compelled to speak; but in a brogue that would have been unintelligible to English ears; we therefore translate it:

"I could not help thinking of the poor people at Rathbeg, when the soldiers and police cried, 'Down with them! down with them, even to the ground!' and then the poor bit cabins came down all in fire and smoke, amid the howls and cries of the poor creatures. Oh! it was a fearful sight your honor—it was, indeed—to see the poor women hugging their babies, and the houses where they were born, burning in the wind. It was dreadful to see the old bed-ridden man lie on the wet ground amongst the few bits of furniture, and groan to his gracious God above. Oh, your honor! you never saw such a sight, or—you—sure a it would never have been done!"

Dennis seemed to let the last words out as if they were jerked from him by a sudden shock.

The master, whose face had changed during the speech to a livid hue of passion, his eyes blazing with rage, was in the act of rushing on old Dennis, when he was held back by his wife, who exclaimed—"Oswald! be calm;let us hear what Dennis has to say. Goon, Dennis —go on!"

The master stood still, breathing hard to overcome his rage. Old Dennis, as if seeing only his own thoughts, went on —"O, bless your honor! if you had seen that poor frantic woman when the back of the cabin fell, and buried her infant, where she had laid her safe for a moment, while she flew to part her husband and a soldier, who had struck the other children with the flat of his sword, and bade them to troop off! Oh, your honor, but it was a killing sight! It was that, came over me in the prayer, and I feared that we might be praying perdition on us all, when we prayed about our trespasses. If the poor creatures of Rathbeg should meet us, your honor, at Heaven's gate (I was thinking) and say —'These are the heathens that would not let us have a hearthstone in poor ould Ireland.' And that was all, your honor, that made me misbehave so; I was just thinking of that, and could not help it."

"Begone! you old fool!" exclaimed the master; and Dennis disappeared, with a bow, and an alertness that would have done credit to his earlier years.

There was a moment's silence after exit. The lady turned to her husband, and clasping his arms with her hands, and looking into his darkened countenance with a look of tenderest anxiety, said:

"Dearest Oswald, let me, as I have often done, once more entreat that these dreadful evictions may cease. Surely there must be some way to avert them, and to set your property right, without such violent measures."

The stern, proud man said—"Then, why, in the name of heaven, do you not reveal some other remedy! Why do you not enlighten all Ireland! Why don't you instruct Government! The unhappy wretches who have been swept away by force are no people, no tenants of mine. They squatted themselves down, as a swarm of locusts fix themselves while a green glade is left. They obstruct all improvement; nor will they quit it to allow me to provide more industrious and provident husbandmen to cultivate it. Land that teems with fertility, and is shut out from bearing and bringing forth food for man is accursed. Those who have been evicted, not only rob me, but their more industrious fellows."

"They will murder us!" said the wife, "some day for these things. They will ——"

Her words were cut short suddenly by her husband staring, and standing in a listening attitude. "Wait a moment," he said, with a peculiar calmness, as if he had just got a fresh thought; and his lady, who did not comprehend what was the cause, but hoped that some better influence was touching him, unloosed her hands from his arm. "Wait just a moment," he repeated, and stepped from the room, opened the front door, and without his hat, went out.

"He is intending to cool down his anger," thought his wife; "he feels a longing for the freshness of the air." But she had not caught the sound which had startled his quicker, because more excited ear; she had been too much engrossed by her own intercession with him: it was a peculiar whine from the mastiff, which was chained near the lodge-gate, that had arrested his attention. He stepped out. The black clouds which overhung the moor had broken, and the moon's light struggled between them.

The tall and haughty man stood erect in the breeze and listened. Another moment—there was a shot, and he fell headlong upon the broad steps on which he stood. His wife sprang with a piercing shriek from the door, and fell on his corpse. A crowd of servants gathered about them, making wild lamentations, and breathing vows of vengeance. The murdered master and the wife were borne into the house.

The heron soared from its lofty perch, and wheeled with terrific wings through the night air. The servants armed themselves; and, rushing furiously from the house, traversed the surrounding masses of trees. Fierce dogs were let loose, and dashed frantically through the thickets. All was, however, too late. The soaring heron saw grey figures, with blackened faces, stealing away—often on their hands and knees—down the hollows of the moorlands towards the village, where the Irish horsemen had, in the first dusk of that evening, tied their lean steeds to the old elder-bush.

McAllister's All-healing Ointment

IT is generally conceded that this Medicine has effected more cures than any seven remedies ever presented to the public. It has probably cured more cases of Piles, Rheumatism, Sore Eyes, Burns, Tumors, Salt Rheum, Quincy, Sore Throat, &c., than all the popular medicines now sold. And I am positive in Liver Complaint, scrofula, Asthma, Coughs, Consumptions, Spinal Diseases, Wounds, Broken or Sore Breasts, Headache and the like, nothing can be found with physicians or druggists that is so good, and the cure so quick. In all complaints peculiar to females especially, its efficacy appears almost miraculous.
